1. This action is in response to the amendment filed on 9/12/2011.
2. Claims 89, 110-111, 107, 117 and 120-121 have been amended. Claims 89-97, 99-124 and 127 are pending for consideration.

Response to Arguments

3. The newly submitted abstract have been reviewed and accepted.
4. The rejection under 35 U.S.C. 101 have been withdrawn in view of amendment filed on 9/12/2011.
5. Applicant's arguments filed on 9/12/2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
6. Applicant argues on page 13 of the Remarks that Hoehne does not disclose enforcing digital rights associated with a gaming application through the use of interchangeable mass storage in conjunction with different mobile terminals. The examiner respectfully disagrees with the applicant's arguments. Hoehne does disclose enforcing digital rights associated with a gaming application through the use of interchangeable mass storage in conjunction with different mobile terminals. The examiner respectfully disagrees with the applicant's arguments (Hoehne: paragraphs 0026, 0035, 0043 and 0045: game application embedded in the MSC will require activation. Activation may include the verification...with the player). Therefore, the combination of Rao in view of Hoehne is proper.

Art Unit: 2431

7. The examiner notes, the examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant.

Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings of the art and are applied to specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant in preparing responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the Examiner.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 92-93, 110-111 and 120-121 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 89-90, 94-96, 99-108, 112-118, 122-124 and 127 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rao et al. (US7286502) (hereinafter Rao) in view of Hoehne et al. (US20050181875) (hereinafter Hoehne).

Art Unit: 2431

11. Regarding claim 89, Rao discloses a method comprising: determining, via at least one processor, to establish a wireless communication connection between a mobile terminal and a server stored with data (Rao: see figure 6; column 5 lines 49-66: a wireless device, CT/MD 602 with I/O ports 610 and CT/MD 612 with the ability to interface through a cradle adapter 604 having both wireless and wired connections 606; and column 6 lines 23-33); determining, via at least one processor, to establish a data network connection between the mobile terminal and the server, the data network connection being independent from the wireless communication connection (Rao: column 6 lines 4-12 and column 4 lines 15-31: dual T/R unit allows the internal processor to independently process the two incoming signal streams separately and optimally); determining to receive the data streams from the server to the mobile terminal via the data network connection and the wireless communication connection (Rao: column 4 lines 24-31 and column 6 lines 54-67).

Rao does not disclose the data stored at the server is a game application; determining to store the downloaded game application into an interchangeable mass storage, and determining to use the interchangeable mass storage in conjunction with different mobile terminals thereby enforcing digital right associated with the gaming application. However, Hoehne discloses the data stored at the server is a game application (Hoehne: paragraphs 0078); determining to store the downloaded game application into an interchangeable mass storage (Hoehne: paragraphs 0026, 0035, 0043 and 0045: game application embedded in the MSC will require activation. Activation may include the verification...with the player), and determining to use the interchangeable mass storage in conjunction with different mobile terminals thereby enforcing digital right associated with the gaming application (Hoehne: paragraphs 0026, 0035, 0043 and 0045). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have included in Rao the feature of Hoehne as discussed above to provide a secured, subscriber information and phone books that can be moved from one mobile appliance to another (Hoehne: paragraph 0029).

12. Regarding claim 107, Claim 107 is an apparatus claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1. Therefore, claim 107 is rejected by a similar rationale.

13. Regarding claim 117, Claim 117 is a non-transitory computer-readable storage medium claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1. Therefore, claim 117 is rejected by a similar rationale.

14. Regarding claim 90, 108, 118 and 127, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the gaming application is downloaded simultaneously using the wireless communication connection and the data network connection (Rao: column 6 lines 23-33).

15. Regarding claim 94, 112 and 122, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the server permits downloading of the gaming application to only the mobile terminal (Rao: column 5 lines 19-23).

16. Regarding claim 95, 113 and 123, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the wireless communication connection is established over a public land mobile network that performs at least one of authentication, authorization and payment procedures (Hoehne: paragraphs 0028 and 0030).

17. Regarding claim 96, 114 and 124, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the wireless communication connection is initiated by the mobile terminal or the server (Rao: see figure 7).

18. Regarding claim 99 and 115, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the data network connection includes at least a local connection between an apparatus and the mobile terminal, and a sub-data network connection between the apparatus and the server, and the apparatus adapts the mobile terminal to the sub-data network connection (Rao: see figure 6).

19. Regarding claim 100 and 116, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the sub-data network connection includes at least one of an analog telephone line connection, a digital telephone line connection, a broadband cable connection, a powerline communication connection, a glass fiber connection, a satellite downlink, an Ultrawideband connection, and a line of sight transmission connection (Rao: column 4 lines 45-48).

20. Regarding claim 101, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the local connection between the mobile terminal and the apparatus is established by the mobile terminal (Rao: see figure 7).

21. Regarding claim 102, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the sub-data network connection between the apparatus and the server is initiated by the mobile terminal (Rao: see figure 6: the cradle).

Art Unit: 2431

22. Regarding claim 103, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the local connection between the mobile terminal and the apparatus is established via a short-range wireless communication connection (Rao: column 5 lines 15-17).

23. Regarding claim 104, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the apparatus is built in the mobile terminal (Rao: see figure 6).

24. Regarding claim 105, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the settings of the apparatus are controlled by the mobile terminal or the server (Rao: column 5 lines 48-67).

25. Regarding claim 106, Rao as modified by Hoehne discloses wherein the settings include at least one of an address, a upload data rate, a download data rate, a packet size, a repeat rate, fragmentation, coding, and scrambling (Rao: column 3 lines 10-25).

26. Claims 91, 109, and 119 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rao in view of Hoehne, and further in view of Zhang (US7239864) (hereinafter Zhang).

27. Regarding claim 91, 109, and 119, Rao in view of Hoehne does not disclose further comprising: authenticating the mobile terminal via the wireless communication connection while downloading the gaming application via the data network connection. However, Zhang discloses authenticating the mobile terminal via the wireless communication connection while downloading the gaming application via the data network connection (Zhang: column 5 lines 3-11). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have included in Rao in view of Hoehne the feature of Zhang as discussed above to save one round trip of communication time (Zhang: column 5 lines 3-4).

28. Claim 97 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rao in view of Hoehne, and further in view of Thielke et al. (US6324564) (hereinafter Thielke).

29. Regarding claim 97, Rao in view of Hoehne does not disclose initiating by the server a call back function. However, Thielke discloses initiating by the server a call back function (Thielke: column 5 lines 1-20). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have included in Rao in view of Hoehne the feature of Thielke as discussed above to improve the efficacy of IP-based applications when running over wireless or other mobile networks (Thielke: column 2 lines 49-51).
